Knights of the Maccabees Resolutions Relative to the Memory of Bro. W. L. Withers.

On returning to the lodge room after the burial the following resolutions were unanimously adopted and entered upon the minutes of the McKinney, Stanford and Mt. Vernon Lodges.

Whereas, The Supreme Ruler of the Universe, in his infinite wisdom, has ended the earthly warfare of our brother, W. L. Withers, and called him to the Supreme Camp above to receive the reward due a faithful and conscientious Sir Knight, therefore be it

Resolved, That as members of an Order whose prime object is to protect, defend, provide for an orphan, a widow and orphan, we as Knights of the Maccabees of the World hereby give expression to our deep, heartfelt sympathy for his bereaved loved ones, about whose welfare he was ever solicitous, remembering that his watchful tenderness toward his wife and children was consistent with the highest, purest type of manhood.

2. That in his death our Order has lost a valued member, the church and community a Christian gentleman.

3. That while all that is mortal of our comrade lies in the narrow confines of the dark, cold and silent grave, his memory will be enshrined in the hearts of his brothers and his noble deeds and honest purposes will live with us forever. Then let each of us, by this bereavement be urged on to greater deeds of charity and benevolence.

For we know that far beyond the grave, far beyond where the tall cedars wave On Syrian mountains, and the stars Come glittering forth in their golden cars, There blooms a land of perennial life Where we come to think of the tears in this.

And the pilgrim on reaching that radiant shore Has the thought of death in his heart no more. But lo! his staff and sandals shown For the victor's palm and monarch's crown.

The mother meets in that tranquil sphere The faithful child and she weeps for him.

We greet of the same immortal hope Where the orphan smiles and the slave looks up. So be glad our hearts and forget our tears. Bro Withers lives in heaven's bright spheres.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The First Presbyterian church at Bowling Green has called Rev. M. D. Hardin as a temporary supply.

—Rev. H. N. Faulconer's meeting at Barbourville Presbyterian church closed with seven additions.—Experiment.

—Mr. W. T. Royalty writes from Yocumita that the Middle Green River church will dedicate the first Sunday in June.

—Rev. Albert Dietz, the missionary who has been under arrest in Cuba, will attend a great Baptist gathering in Chattanooga.

—The wife of Rev. G. F. Campbell, the Methodist preacher at Franklin, has deserted him and gone home, because she claims he neglects her.

—W. A. Borum, a holiness preacher, of Middleboro, immersed 17 converts in the Cumberland river at Barbourville Sunday in less than 17 minutes.

—Hon. John Sam Owsley, Sr., represented Walnut Flat at the Cumberland Presbyterian convention at Winchester last week, when the delegates were royally entertained. The next meeting will be with Caldwell church in Boyle county.

—Rev. James M. Walton writes as follows from Livingston: In a recent number of the Interior Journal you say Mr. Henry Cox, of Mt. Vernon, left the Presbyterian church because his "eyes were opened." Mr. Cox stated publicly that he had not changed his views, and left the Presbyterian church to preserve harmony in his family. I was his pastor and am familiar with all the circumstances.

—President William Heth Whitsett, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, has raised a breeze that is likely to develop into a cyclone on account of an article written by him for an encyclopedia in which he expressed a doubt as to whether Roger Williams was baptized by immersion, and also stated that prior to this time immersion was not universally practiced among Baptists in England. Baptists all over the country are howling in protest and the trustees of the Seminary will be asked to call their president to account.

—Sunday was the 77th anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. April 26, 1819, five men met at Baltimore and organized the first Odd Fellows lodge. There are now in the United States over 825,000 Odd Fellows in good standing; paid out for relief $87,858,690.47; members relieved, 2,417,711; widowed families relieved 316,178.

—Because she refused to give him something to eat a tramp shot at and fatally wounded Mrs. Sallie Anderson, near Fayetteville, O.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Monday was county court day and horse show day as well.

—Elder George G. Green preached at the Fork church on Sunday night to a crowded house.

—Rev. W. P. Nelson preached the nation sermon Sunday night at the Presbyterian church, subject, "The Efficacy of Prayer."

—The friends and relatives of Mrs. Anne E. Hopper will be pained to learn that her health, which has been feeble for some time, is rapidly declining.

—T. B. Walker sold a horse for $45; James A. McGeeley bought of L. K. Perkins 15 hogs at $2 and 31 from Grove Kennedy and son at the same price.

—Remember Miss Elvira Seaton Miller's father's evening, May 1st. The entertainment will be held at the courthouse. General admission 25c; reserved seats 50c and children 25c.

—Sanctification meeting of several weeks duration has just closed at Caveville. There were 18 or more additions besides much zeal and enthusiasm being awakened in the church.

—There was a meeting Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock of the prohibitionists of this county for the purpose of selecting delegates to the prohibition convention, which meets in Covington, May 25.

—Lancaster was visited by a most severe hail storm on Friday afternoon. It lasted for only a short time, but it came up very suddenly and with great fury, lashing the trees and knocking off a great deal of the fruit.

—Miss Olivia Saxeney entertained a number of her young friends in a most agreeable manner Friday evening from 8 to 12. Though young, Miss Saxeney has proved that she is very capable in the art of entertaining.

—The select spring school that has been taught by Mrs. Mary L. Anderson at West Point closed on Friday afternoon with appropriate exercises. Mrs. Anderson taught a very successful school and gave much satisfaction as a teacher.

—It was with regret the citizens of Lancaster learned of the recent death of Mr. W. Lewis Withers, of Stanford, who was for a number of years engaged in the hardware business here, and was highly esteemed for his integrity of character.

—It is surprising how rapidly the work is progressing upon the new Methodist church. The building is of brick and of an improved style with handsome massive windows, having an entrance fronting the street, but at the right hand corner.

—Some of the young people of the various churches will meet this week to organize a temperance society. The band will include both young ladies and young men. Officers will be selected and it is hoped much good will result from the organization.

—The measles are still prevailing, going the rounds in whole families. A few have been very sick with them. Mr. Gutierrez was regarded as dangerously ill for two or three days. He was so ill that his brother from Pulaski was summoned to his bedside.

—The farmers of Garrard county say that never on record have so many acres of oats been sown as this year. Tobacco beds are being prepared and the plants will soon be put out, and from present indications there will be an abundant yield of this weed. Many of the farmers are quite busy planting corn. They also report that some of the wheat looks better than at first.

—Miss Jennie McKee, of Covington, is the guest of Mrs. Malcolm Gill. Miss Endoxie Moss is at home for a short visit from Beaumont College, Harrodsburg. Miss Kate Walker is at home from a protracted visit to Mrs. W. G. Dunlap, of Lexington. Miss Florence Jennings, of Danville, is with Miss Maud Robinson.

Mr. Robert Arnold and wife, of Richmond, are visiting relatives in Garrard. Mr. L. C. Hopper, of Covington, has been visiting his mother. B. A. Spencer, of Louisville, was with his parents Sunday. Mrs. Stella Lapsley, of Harrodsburg, is the guest of Mrs. R. E. McRoberts. Mrs. Betsey Nevins, of Stanford, is visiting Mrs. James Dillon. Mrs. Ransom Carson, of Hustonville, is the guest of Lancaster friends. Mrs. Martha Turner, of Nicholasville, is visiting Miss Bethe Doores. Mrs. Theodore Moran, of London, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clemerson. Messrs. R. T. Embry, John Walker and Henry Simpson attended the game of base ball at Richmond Thursday. Miss Annie Prewitt, of Kirksville, is visiting Mrs. Charles Norris. Miss Ida May Grant has returned from a three-weeks' visit to Mrs. S. P. Grant, of Danville. Mr. and Mrs. John Bolden have returned to Junction City after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. George Evans.

—The Sultan of Turkey has a mania for collecting carriages. He has nearly 500 of them and often loses half an hour deciding in which one he will ride.

—The president of the American Federation of labor says that half a million laborers are going to demand an 8-hour day May 1.

—A cyclone struck the city of Salem, Va., killing two people and injuring four.

OF A LOCAL NATURE.

—John Ball, a Laurel county man, got a year at Bostyville for cutting a negro.

—Special Judge Bradford, at Barbourville, fixed bail for Field and Adkins at $10,000 for each.

—Twenty car-loads of walnut logs have been sent from Madison county for shipment to Germany.

—Fire destroyed Frank Britton's butcher shop and James Anderson's residences at Harrodsburg.

—J. M. Russell, who was born in this county in 1809 and moved to Columbia in 1833, died there last week.

—The commencement exercises of Millersburg Female College will be held on May 25. There are 10 graduates.

—The grand jury at Richmond failed to indict R. D. Campbell, who was held over, on the charge of being a party to the killing of Wm. Johnson at Berea last Christmas.

—James Sawyers, who murdered Dr. Burnside at Barbourville, got a continuance and bail at $5,000, which he readily gave. Seven lawyers have been engaged to defend him and eight to prosecute.

—Mrs. Doby Cox, who cut her husband's head open with an axe, near Gray, when he attempted to beat her while drunk, was acquitted at Barbourville. She is 37 and has several little children.

—O. J. Thurnmont bought of Mrs. Nannie Brewer, her residence on 4th street, for $2,500, and has taken possession. The Central Kentucky Druggists' Association will meet in Danville tomorrow. Advocate.

—James Crutcher, a colored jackey, of Lexington, was killed at a bridge near Lexington Junction Sunday. He was sitting in the open doorway of the car with his legs hanging out when struck by the bridge and thrown from the car.

—The circuit judge at Lexington granted Jos. Brown a new trial, convicted of the murder of Palk Moffat and given 10 years, because the sheriff allowed the jury to drink six quarts of whiskey and two bottles of beer. He then granted a new trial at $1,000.

—Middleboro local optionists are making strenuous efforts to shut out saloons on May 12. A monster tent has been raised and Mrs. C. S. Nield and other noted advocates of prohibition will plead the cause till election day. The registration shows 600 voters.

—S. B. Turner has filed suit in Garrard against J. D. Nave and wife for $10,000 damages. Turner married Nave's daughter about a year ago and the petition charges the defendant with taking plaintiff's wife from him because he did not swear to his interest in court.

—M. N. Driggers, the Richmond merchant, who was attacked by a woman and her daughter with a "home protector" and an umbrella because they believed he was trying to ruin the daughter, has made an assignment to S. L. Midkiff for the benefit of his creditors.

—Since the purchase of the Knoxville, Cumberland Gap and Louisville, the Southern railway has refused to allow its cars to run over the L. & N., and passengers and freight are transferred at Jellico. The ultimate idea is to divert the exchange of traffic from Jellico to Middleboro.

—Mrs. Frank Gardner, living near Sadiesville, this State, committed suicide by jumping into a well and drowning herself at her home. Her husband was afflicted with a cancer on the mouth and had gone to Cincinnati to have it treated. She had also lost a daughter recently, and it is believed that these two facts had so preyed on her mind that it had become affected.

—The trial of Scott Jackson for the murder of Pearl Bryan, in progress at Newport, will likely last all the week. No new developments are being made, but the chain of circumstances is being forged around the prisoner which will certainly convict him of the heinous crime. Walling's trial has been postponed till May 12.

—The court of appeals has decided that a will can be probated on any day during a regular term of county court, instead of only on the first day, as has heretofore been regarded as the legal time.

—The theory of the defense in the Jackson case will be that Will Wood is the author of the ruin of Pearl Bryan and had her killed, or rather she was killed in producing an abortion on her.

—Congressman Hall, of Missouri, and Money, of Mississippi, fought in the committee room at Washington. Hall had called Money a liar.

—At Kent, O., a train frightened Levi Swinehart's horse, and in attempting to hold him he ruptured a blood vessel, dying almost instantly.

—Frank Hanks, of New Albany, Ind., ate three dozen eggs on a wager, and when he finished offered to bet he could eat a dozen more.

—Seventeen-year-old Nannie Bulger, of Maysville, took a dose of rough on rats because her beau took another girl to an ice cream supper.

—The great piano house of Smith and Nixon has failed for a million.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Mrs. Sarah A. Hutchison, who lived here for years, died at her home in Lexington last week, aged 67. She was a splendid Christian lady and the announcement of her death will cause regret wherever she was known. She left five children including Mrs. Peyton Parrot, of Lexington. Her remains were laid to rest in the Danville cemetery Saturday in the presence of a large number of friends.

—His many friends here will be pained to hear of the death of Mr. F. M. Ansley, which occurred at Thomasville, Ga., a few days ago, of Bright's disease. He was roadmaster on this division for several years and with his excellent family resided here. Mr. Ansley had been in bad health for some time and went South with the hope of being benefited, and while he improved and was able to fill a position with the Plant System of Railroads, his health was never fully restored.

—He was a warm-hearted, genial gentleman and those who knew him best liked him most. Mrs. Ansley and family have the sympathy of their friends here in their dark hour of trouble.

—After lingering between life and death from Sunday night the brittle thread, which held Mr. W. Lewis Withers to earth snapped Saturday morning and his spirit took its flight. His death was the result of the bursting of a blood vessel on the brain, caused by jumping up from a dream, while very ill, that his house was on fire. Mr. Withers was a son of the late Leban Withers and was born in this county 49 years ago. Several brothers and sisters and a loving wife and three children survive him. His wife was Miss Annie House, and they were married just 13 years ago. May God give her and her consolation in this dark hour.

—Almost the first business that Mr. Withers entered was that of the farming implement and vehicle and for years he followed it in Lancaster, where like at Stanford he made many warm friends, who will sorrow over his demise. He was a man of strong convictions and when he set his head it was impossible to move him. For many years he was a member of the Christian church and was a good man and a good citizen.

Mr. Withers' popularity was shown to some extent by the immense crowd which gathered at his burial. Friends from miles around were there while the members of the two orders he belonged to, Knights of Honor and Knights of the Maccabees, were most all present. His burial was under the auspices of the first named order, but Maccabees from McKinney, Mt. Vernon and the local lodge marched in the procession and joined in the ceremony to some extent. Elder Brewer, pastor of the deceased, also conducted services at the grave.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Jacob Jesswein, a Russian, and Miss Ida Klebs, a pretty German girl, will be married at Ottenheim to-morrow.

—J. C. Bryant, of Bourbon, aged 70, who recently paid a young woman $5,000 for breach of promise, was married last week to Miss Katie Cain, a maiden of 25.

—At Athens, Tenn., a married man wrote a letter to a young lady asking her to run off with him, and she did not do a thing but get a cow hide and wear it out on him when she met him on the street.

—A Washington dispatch says that the marriage of Miss Julia, daughter of Vice President Stevenson, and Rev. M. D. Hardin will occur in that city May 28 and be followed by a reception at the Hotel Normandie.

—John Pendleton, a Garrard county farmer, and Miss Lula Burruss, of Metcalf county, were married at the Carpenter House Saturday, by Rev. R. R. Noel, who says he is always ready and willing to leave his coal office to make people happy in that way.

—Forty-five years ago Squire Turner, of Bloomington, Ill., fell out with his sweetheart and went to the Pacific coast. A few weeks ago he wrote to her apologizing for his conduct and last week they were married. He is 73 years old and she is 10 years younger. What a life time of misery they likely have missed!

—Fifteen years ago Wesley Whitaker, then a prominent Owsley county man, fell in love with Miss Campbell, a beautiful young 16 year old girl, and they were married, living happily together for several years, until the breaking out of the French-Boer war when he got into the penitentiary for murder. His wife got a divorce, but did not marry. Last week Whitaker was pardoned and going home asked his ex-wife for a kiss. She gave him one and he took two. There was magic in it for it awakened the old love and before night the happy pair were again made one, never more, let us trust, to be parted.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Dr. J. W. Grant will be in Crab Orchard tomorrow, 29th, to practice his profession.

—John Callahan will probably die from being pawed by a mule at Lexington.

W. P. WALTON.

"All things come to him who waits." This is like true of animate as well as inanimate creations. Stanford has waited long and waited patiently to possess the honor of being the home of a Congressman, and the long vigil is at last to be broken, a turning in the lengthy lane is about to be reached. The Hon. George Davison is soon to announce his candidacy for Congress and as an announcement is equivalent to an election, when so eminent a statesman expresses a willingness to sacrifice himself for the good of the people, we take it that the one overbearing ambition of the capital of Lincoln is soon to be gratified. The selection of such a man to represent this enlightened and progressive constituency in Congress will be peculiarly appropriate and a consummation devoutly to be wished. An Apollo in appearance, a Chesterfield in manners, a Carlisle in intellect and a Demosthenes in oratory, the man of parts, the student of economic questions, the compendium of knowledge, the Hon. George Davison stands out in bold relief as the one man preordained and designed to save the country and restore the statu quo ante. It is not often that the people have such a glorious opportunity to redeem themselves by accepting such a Moses to lead them out of the wilderness. That they will be true to it and that they will embrace it by a practically unanimous vote, there can be no shadow of the shade of a doubt. Democratic candidates will have their intellectual fires piled by this consecrating lunary and will flee to the mountains of Hepstead, and where the whangdoodle mourneth for his first born, hide their diminished heads before the enthusiasm that this giant of intellectuality will create.

And thereat the woodcock will be struck so dumb with amazement that, unable to utter his usual remark, he will say not a word and "jess laff." The selection of Lexington as the place for holding the democratic State convention recalls the fact that it is now 16 years ago, since a similar convention was held there, just prior to the nomination for president of Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock. The writer was present as a delegate and remembers very vividly the passage at arms between Judge M. J. Darham and Hon. Henry Watterson, in which the great orator appeared to come out second best. The party was fully as badly torn up then as now, but it got together and gave the superb soldier a majority of 43,449. Lexington is rather short of hotel accommodations for the 915 delegates and thousands of others who will gather there, but she will do her best and what she will lack in accommodations she will make up in good liquor and good cheer. By that time let us hope that every faction of democracy will have flopped together and over the whisky and the mint renew their pledges of brotherly love and resolve to fight only the common enemy in the future and no more among themselves.

SENATOR BLACKBURN, like Bancho's ghost, will not down, but continues to make himself a thorn in the democratic side. He is directing his massive intellect now to getting the counties to pass resolutions indorsing the action of the Legislature, who supported him and condemning the others as bolters and traitors. This he considers of more importance than the currency question or the presidency. In other words, Mr. Blackburn, the basest of bolters, hopes to profit by party discord and by stirring up more seel, make himself more solid with that faction of the party which must rule or ruin. Nothing can hurt the political fortunes of this insatiable buccaneer, who deserves the execration of every true democrat, who believes in party action and binds himself thereby. But for his execrable course and his willing follower, Mr. Hardin, Kentucky would not now be disgraced by republican rule, and democracy should tap them heavily on their heads every time they dare to raise them.

The difference between a statesman and a time-serving, pot-house politician is plainly shown in positions of Secretary Carlisle and Gov. Matthews, of Indiana. The former is only concerned about the platform of his party, holding that paramount to personal advancement, while the latter is credited with saying he would accept the nomination for president on any platform that the party shall adopt. Fortunate for the party that there is not the least possibility of this too willin' Barkis being called to lead even the forlorn hope that would follow the adoption of any kind of a platform.

The court of appeals has found another hole in the local option law. Hardin county voted for prohibition by a large majority, but the court holds that the Elizabethtown precinct having voted in the election against the proposition, is not bound by the result taken as a whole. The "wets" are therefore in high feather.

THE G. A. R. of the department of Wyoming and Colorado censured President Cleveland for his pension policy. This is another cause for the people to love him for the enemies he has made.

THE Mt. Vernon Eagle makes an admirable suggestion in its issue of the 24th. It is that Judge J. W. Alcorn, of this place, be induced to become a candidate for delegate from the State-at-large to the Chicago convention. The judge would make an ideal delegate, being sound on every issue dear to the democratic heart and strong in his advocacy of the nomination of that greatest Kentuckian and most eminent of statesmen, John G. Carlisle, for the presidency. The Eagle adds both wisely and felicitously: "Uncompromising and yet conservative, able and far seeing, of commanding ability and superior judgment, Judge Alcorn is the character of man that the democracy of Kentucky needs, that the democracy of the Union needs in the convention that may perpetrate or may destroy the democratic party, and with it the prospects of good government, of prosperity and peace." Judge Alcorn is especially strong in this and the 11th districts and is well and favorably known all over the State. We hope and believe that he may be induced to permit the use of his name for the high honor.

Quay fared better than other so called favorite sons that we could enumerate, but nothing to brag of. Pennsylvania instructed for him, without handicapping him with a second choice, but it required a great deal of effort and much tact to keep the persistent McKinley men down. They demanded second instructions and raised a "hellballoo," but were finally knocked down and dragged out. Virginia republicans instructed first and last for "that pioneer of promised prosperity, Wm. McKinley, of Ohio."

Wisdom is the principal thing, therefore get Wisdom.—Proverbs 4:7. That fiery, untamed, red headed son of Mars, Senator Charles J. Bronston, of Lexington, is at last going to obey a Scriptural injunction. He's going to get Wisdom. That is to say Miss Belle Wisdom, a Paducah belle, as rich as she is beautiful, and he will get her next Thursday. The Senator has been paying assiduous court for some time, but it did not leak out till a few days ago what took him to the Penitentiary often, and why he was so solicitous about the health of Senator Ogilvie, whom he visited so frequently.

TO-DAY, in Florida, Mr. W. N. Halderman, president of the Courier-Journal Company, celebrates the 75th anniversary of his birth. Which one of our esteemed contemporaries throughout the country can claim the services of a more vigorous or energetic young man?—Courier-Journal, 27th. Not one. And here's hoping that the same can be said for many years. He is Kentucky's grand old man and the press' most beloved nestor.

That the ruling passion is strong even in death is again proven. Mud Dauber Smith, who is to be hung at noon tomorrow at Lexington, has sent a written request to the judge to let him view the circus parade, which will pass the jail an hour earlier. The judge, believing that the negro ought to see his last moments in trying to obtain pardon for his sins, had not granted the request at last accounts.

You dodge the issue, Bro. O'Sullivan. We expressed no surprise at your fondness for Gov. Bradley personally for we are very fond of him ourselves, but it is a little inconsistent to demonstrate so much of a Damon and Pythias attachment for a man who belongs to a band of "midnight assassins" as you term the A. P.'s, and who would ostracize you politically for espousing the religion of your fathers.

The conflict of authority between Chairman Charles R. Long, of the State Central Committee, and Mr. Urey Woodson, a member of it, is not likely to produce war, but it is rather unfortunate for the party. Bro. Woodson is never satisfied unless he is in a row and will raise one even with a preacher.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

—The official majority of Bale over Dr. Walton is 158.

—The Bandana Club at Louisville has given Cleveland and Carlisle a rousing indorsement.

—Col. Josiah Patterson says the sound money men will control the convention and have 476 votes out of 926 delegates.

—A dispatch from Nicholasville says that P. Watt Hardin will open the hall for free silver at a roasting meeting to be there next Saturday.

—The prohibs are the first and the pope will be last to hold conventions in Kentucky this year. The latter will hold their State convention at Louisville, July 14.

—At present the standing of the republican candidates is: McKinley 381, Allison, 41, Reed 99, Bradley 16, Morton 66, Cullom 12, Quay 50. This puts McKinley within 75 of the nomination.

—O. C. Williams told a Post correspondent at Richmond that he would not be a candidate for Congress, adding: "If I have any influence in Rockcastle, it will be thrown to my friend, J. S. Owsley, Jr."

—The sinking fund commissioners have appointed ex-Senator A. H. Stewart, of Richmond, physician, and Sam Anderson, of Nicholasville, foreman, of the chair factory at the Frankfort penitentiary.

—The sound money candidate for governor of Arkansas has withdrawn because he says his canvass of the State has convinced him that a majority of the democrats of Arkansas favor extreme silver legislation.

—Missouri free silverites will try to secure Kentucky's vote for Silver Dollar Brand!

—Gold-standard people of ex-Gov. Boies' home county won a victory there Saturday at the county convention, outnumbering the silver-Boies' men three to two.

—Minister A. S. Willis has arrived at San Francisco on his way to Louisville from Hawaii and it is said that he will run for Congress in his old district.

—Secretary Carlisle has written to leaders there that he sincerely hopes our democratic friends in the 11th Congressional district will select sound money delegates to the State convention and to the Chicago convention.

—Gen. John B. Castleman has withdrawn from the contest for delegates from 5th district to the National convention. We understand that he is not in accord with the sentiment of the district on the money question or the endorsement of Carlisle.

—Chairman Long advises all county chairmen to have alternate delegates elected, saying that otherwise many counties may find themselves powerless to participate in the convention. Proxies are not going to be recognized in the future. It gives a chance for too much fraud.

—The republican executive committee of the 11th Congressional district met at Williamsburg with three county chairmen present and the rest of them by proxy. They decided to hold a primary election August 15 and have the returns counted there. Congressman Coleen was present and seemed to have things his own way.

—The spectacle of a republican State convention marching its delegates to the rostrum and compelling them to solemnly pledge themselves to abide by the instructions of the convention was exhibited at Nashville. The precaution was probably necessary. The average republican doesn't mind going back on his pledges, but if these do they can be prosecuted for perjury.

—The basis for representation at the State convention will be one for each 200 votes cast by each county and legislative district, taking the highest democratic vote, whether in the presidential election in 1892 or at the State election in 1895. By this arrangement, the counties, which almost went entirely over to the enemy last year, will have a decent representation, though they do not deserve it.

NEWSY NOTES.

—Mrs. Joseph Cockling and Miss Daisy Miller were murdered and Joseph Cockling left for dead by robbers at Hill-top, Md.

—Murderer Holmes insists that the rope to be used in hanging him must be long enough to break his neck. "I want no bungling job," he says.

—Cripple Creek, Col., has pluckily declined offers of financial assistance on account of its million-dollar fire Saturday afternoon, declaring it is able to care for its unfortunates.

—Notwithstanding the light receipts for April, there is ample money in the National treasury to meet current expenses. The available cash balance is $271,- 388,086.76, including $100,000,000 for the gold reserve.

—At Huntington, W. Va., John and Wilbert Eggers, brothers, died the same night of consumption. Both bodies were interred in the same grave.

—Peter Ebert, a crazy boy 17 years old, killed Mrs. Herman Haschke, her two children, the sheriff and a deputy sheriff at Rockville, Ind. He finished his awful work by killing himself.

—A Louisville firm has secured the contract from John W. Mackay for a mausoleum to cost $225,000 to be erected over the remains of his son, who was killed in France by a fall from his horse.

PETER STRACH, JR., and W. H. Brady got back from Louisville Saturday night, delighted with their trip which they made on wheels. They were fortunate enough to escape a "puncture," but a dog came very near puncturing Pete's shine as he was passing a farm house on the way.

The Lancaster Record says that Capt. E. J. White, who began type setting in 1830, and in his prime could easily set 18,000 a day, still sticks three gallons a day of brewer, which is more by a galley than the average man sets. The type that this fine old man has set could not be pulled by a locomotive. May be live to set millions more.

J. T. EMBRY is in Lexington for a few days.
Mr. HOLDAN STUART, of Grays, is the guest of his sweetheart here.
Mrs. C. S. NYLID will deliver a lecture on Temperance at the Christian church Sunday night next.

BITUMINOUS and Cannel Coal mixed for Cooking Purposes cheaper than cheap. Also the celebrated Bird Eye nut. J. H. Baughman & Co.

FIRE.—A tenant house on Mr. R. Cobb's farm burned Friday. It had been occupied by Willis Preston and burned the day he moved out. It is thought that it was set on fire.

MIC LEWIS Withers left his family in good financial condition. Besides the neat suburban residence and other property, he had policies in the Knights of Honor and Maccabees of $2,000 each.

The Lincoln County Medical Society will meet at Crab Orchard to-day, when the secretary, Dr. W. B. O'Bannon, will be the essayist of the occasion. His paper will be "Hygienic, dietetic and medicinal management of children under two years."

"SWEET ALICE," is a new piece of music dedicated to Miss Alice Woolford Drye, of Hustonville, by the composer, Mr. Charles R. Powsy, of Lawrenceburg. It was set to music by Henry Saxton, of Lexington, and is said to be a splendid production.

CARDS announcing the arrival of Jean Warren Beckner, the first born of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien P. Beckner, have been issued. The mother was Miss Marie Warren and was a favorite here, where she frequently visited her lovable and popular cousins.

NOT BY A GOOD DEAL.—A dispatch from Richmond to the Cincinnati Enquirer of yesterday, that the editor of the INTERIOR JOURNAL was dying of appendicitis, caused the Louisville Times to send this order to its correspondent here, "Knsh about your brother's condition," when at the same time we were on duty at the office, feeling a little worse for wear but still in the ring, and determined that no little verminiform appendix or anything else for that matter shall knock us out.

G. A. R.—The Citizens' Reception Committee for the entertainment of the State Encampment G. A. R. department of Kentucky, is to be held at Somerset May 19th, asks that those who expect to attend the encampment notify the committee by May 10, so that quarters may be secured for them. Suitable accommodations will also be provided for all colored persons attending the encampment. A special committee of colored citizens have this matter in charge. All railroads have agreed on one fare for the round trip.

KIRBY.—The Lancaster Record has this to say of one of the cleverest men on the road: Capt. W. E. Kirby, who has charge of the local train on this road has the reputation of being the best and most careful conductor on the L. & N. His train, although having a freight train schedule, is always on time, and he has not had an accident for two years last January. This is a record which any railroad man would feel proud of, when it is taken into consideration that he runs a mixed train over one of the worst pieces of railroad track ever thrust upon a suffering public. Capt. Kirby is a prominent K. P. and a clever gentleman.

FOR SALE.—Two wagonettes, one carrying 10 and the other 16 passengers. Also three drummers' wagons, cheap. M. S. & J. W. Baughman.
The Centre College baseball team went up to Richmond Saturday and beat the Central University 8 to 5. The Londoners were defeated at Williamsburg by the home team 17 to 14.

MR. SIM WORTHMAN tells us that his friend, Sam Cook, of Boyle, has a hen that lays in a black bird's nest in a high cedar tree. Those who know Mr. Worthman will not doubt for an instant the truthfulness of this, strange as it may seem.

AMONG the papers of Hon. W. H. Miller have been found paid up life insurance policies to the amount of $1,800 in three companies, a third of which he leaves to his wife, the rest to his creditors. He also owned considerable other property.

The first annual commencement exercises of the Stanford Public School, colored, will be held at Walton's Opera House Friday night next, when Prof. W. D. Tardif promises an entertaining program. There will be four graduates, Misses Annie Adkins and Annie Buckner, Robert Lackey and John Wade. After the exercises proper there will be a tambourine drill by 12 girls and a burlesque fan drill by 24 boys and there will be music, instrumental and vocal, all through the program. Seats will be reserved for white people, who are cordially invited. Rev. W. M. Richards will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon at the Christian church Wednesday night.

The Miller addition to Stanford, by which acres of beautiful building lots were opened for improvement, will stand as a monument to the enterprise and public-spiritedness of the Hon. W. H. Miller, who so recently went from among us forever. Many of the turnpikes in the county owe their building to him, in fact he left his impress on many things of a lasting nature in the county. He was a man of wonderful energy and determination, what his hand finding to do that he did with all his might. There never was a more faithful public official, there was never a truer friend and Julius Caesar could not have been braver. He was in fact absolutely without fear and was at once the bravest and truest man we have ever known. Peace to his ashes and may the sod rest lightly over him.

KILLING.—Local opinion will likely receive a tremendous impetus at Harrodsburg from the killing of the old policeman, John Russell, by the drunken desperado, Larken Downey, which occurred at that place Saturday night. Downey was creating a disturbance, when Russell, who was 60 and had been night policeman for many years, caught hold of him attempted to arrest him. Downey thereupon drew a pistol and fired three shots into the officer's abdomen. Chief of Police Smith succeeded in knocking the fiend down and lodging him in jail, not however until he fired two shots at him. Russell died in a few minutes and threats of lynching were freely made; and which, from what we can hear, ought to be carried into effect. Mr. Russell was a brother-in-law of Mr. F. G. Brady, of this place, and his wife survives.

If Bob Ingersoll will suffer as severely for his unbelief in the existence of a hell, as the editor of this paper has for his dubiety with reference to the new fangled disease of appendicitis, he is going to have a heap of trouble bye-and-bye. We took as much delight in annoying the "stomach ripping" doctors with publications of those surgeons who deny the existence of the disease as Ingersoll seems to enjoy stirring up the clergy with his unorthodox beliefs, but we are not going to do so any more. We are as fully satisfied now that we have a verminiform appendix and that it is subject to disease, as Pagan Bob will be that there is a hell, when 10,000 devils shall vie with each other in piling the fire about him. Dr. Guerrant and other distinguished physicians are mistaken, when they scoff at appendicitis. We know by the sad experience of last week that there is such a disease and that it is at the most aggravating, soul destroying, body racking invention that the devil ever conceived.

VALUABLE silverware, watches, clocks and jewelry at less than half their value at Penny's auction. If you want bargains now is your time.

WATER HAUL.—Mrs. Mildred Bezzley's smoke-house was broken open a few nights ago, but the scamps must have been frightened away, as no meat was missing.

MR. R. C. ENGLEMAN tells us that he has just finished planting three acres of watermelons on Mr. D. W. Vandever's farm and that he will have enough melons to supply this portion of Lincoln county.

ANOTHER light shower fell Friday, reducing the heat somewhat, but doing little other good. The rainfall to date this month has not been half an inch, less than ever before recorded. "Tuesday probably fair, stationary temperature."

GOOD.—Chief Train Dispatcher W. F. Sheridan tells us that on May 20th the K. C. branch will put on another passenger train. It will leave Stanford at 3 p. m. and return at about 9 p. m. Our Lancaster friends are tickled to death at the thought of two trains each way per day.

THE BLACK DIAMOND.—A mass meeting of the citizens of Knox county, Tenn., was held at Knoxville last week, when resolutions were adopted to petition the county judge to order an election on the question of voting $1,100,000 to aid in building Col. Boone's Black Diamond railroad, which is to run from Chicago through Stanford to Savannah, Ga. It may be a long way off, but the iron horse may yet rush through this section on his journey from the lakes to the sea.

MADAM JARLEY'S WAX WORKS.—A good crowd attended Madam Jarley's Wax Works at Walton's Opera House Friday night and witnessed a performance that was both amusing and enjoyable from start to finish. The members of the Young Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church were instrumental in getting up the entertainment and their efforts were rewarded by a nice sum which will go to missionary purposes. Miss Georgia Lewis took the difficult role of Madam Jarley and played it in a manner that would have been a credit to one who had spent her life behind the footlights. She was a splendid museum lecturer and her costume was a very laughable one indeed. With a clear voice and perfect enunciation Miss Lewis told her story of each character in a most interesting way and the audience showed its appreciation of her by frequent applause. The characters were all well represented and each of the ladies and gentlemen who took part is deserving of much complimentary mention but where many did so well it is invidious to particularize. The following is a list of the characters and those who represented them: Susan B. Anthony, Miss Belle Denny; Flora, Miss Mary Noel; Boy stood on the Burning deck, Sam Burch; Rebecca and Rowena, Misses Georgia Wray and Marie Warren; 20th century girl, J. M. Alverson; Orator, Will Embury; Lady McBeath, Miss Annie McKinney; Giggler, Miss Adele Saulay; Bachelor and Lady Love, J. N. Saunders and Miss Pattie Alcorn; Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, Miss Jennie Warren; Mellin's Food Babies, Misses Belle Denny and Kate Alcorn; Uncle Tom, Dexter Ballou; Sleeping Beauty and Prince, Miss Emma Owsley and W. B. McKinney; Lady of the Lake, Miss Kate Alcorn; Liberty, Miss Mary Bruce; Mme. Squaliney, Miss Annie Haye; Mr. Jarley, W. H. Wearen. Dr. W. B. Penny as Pete and H. J. McRoberts as John, were capital attendants to Madam Jarley, while little Miss Louise Eastland, made the cutest kind of Little Nell. After the curtain went down on the first act, Miss Cowen sang very sweetly "The Flower Girl" and on an encore sang "Home Sweet Home." Between the second and third acts she sang "Sing, Smile and Slumber," with violin obligato by Mr. B. H. Danks. Miss Janie Wearen was pianist and showed herself to be an adept at that instrument. A piano solo by Miss Cowen and a duet by Misses Cowen and Wearen was greatly enjoyed. A dummy mounted, representing "W. A. Tribble and his famous mare, Kate Malloy" caused much laughter and applause. The delightful performance wound up with Madam Jarley's full exhibition of wax figures and the scene was a very beautiful one. The costumes, most of them were very hand some and the pretty girls that took part showed off to the best advantage. Misses Annie and Mary Alcorn, who were general managers, are to be congratulated on the success of the enterprise, not a little of the credit of which is due to their energies.
